Cave paintings in India emerged from Middle Paleolithic age, and are found in Bhimbetka, Lakhudiyar, Adangaurh etc.

Inferences about prehistoric beliefs

1. Presence of rituals in paintings shows some kind of proto religion.
2. Secrecy of paintings indicate an element of supernatural & taboo.
3. Worship of fire: shows natural elements were worshiped.
4. Being attacked by animals shows humans were aware of the risks of hunting.
5. Killing animals with spears show belief in success in actual hunts.

6. Female images show belief in fertility cult.

Inferences about social practices

1. Community living in caves.
2. Group hunting scenes show cooperation.
3. Daily activities like women working, men hunting show division of labour.
4. Community dance scenes, shows presence of art and culture.
5. Miniature painting in polychrome show cultural advancements.

Cave paintings as per VN Misra, are the only way to analyse non-material cultural life of prehistoric man.

Regulating Act of 1813, ensured that the British govt. in India would spend for development of education in India.

Colonial education intended to create clerks

1. T.B. Macaulay: emphasised need to create a class who 'Indian in appearance, but British in behaviour.
2. Indian clerks were much cheaper than British clerks.
3. Introduction of English in schools to create clerks comfortable with English.
4. The clerks would remain loyal to British, and help in sustaining the British rule.

However, it became a channel for awakening & self-assertion

1. Educated Indians understood the true nature of Britishers.
Ex- Economic exploitation by DB Naoroji
2. Hypocrisy in British policies was understood.
3. Impact of ideas of Liberty, equality, fraternity from French revolution.
4. Indian Renaissance was triggered with works of Raja Ram Mohan Roy and Brahma Samaj.
5. Indians strived to revive pride in India's glorious past.
6. Newspapers, journals like Kesari became voice of dissent.

Thus, education in India inadvertently triggered a wave of nationalism in India.

Gupta ~~the~~ dynasty was founded by Sri Gupta, and is considered the golden period of ancient India.

Gupta economy facilitated advancements

Cultural advancements

1. Numismatics, and the coins gave rise to advanced metallurgy.
2. Due to stable economy, several literary works were done.
↳ Ex. Kalidasa.
3. Guilds and shrines each had their vibrant cultures.
4. Ports like Sopara, Broach: led to cultural elements from ~~the~~ Roman and Arabic regions.

Scientific advancements

1. Bronze and gold metallurgy flourished.

2. Advancements to science by Varahmihir
3. Robust economy led to Nalanda University by Kumara gupta.

However, some cultural deteriorations were also observed

1. Caste system was made rigid, and institutionalised in society.
2. Sati and untouchability increased.
3. Forced Tax like Vi'shti, which could be upto 8 times of normal tax.

Gupta period, not only saw advancements from people, but kings like Janmecha-gupta and Chandragupta-II themselves contributed to cultural advancements.

The recent WHO report highlighted the prevalence of "loneliness epidemic" in today's western nations, and urban areas.

Causes of Social Isolation of Elderly

Changing Family Structures

1. Reducing joint families due to mobilisation for labour.
↳ Census 2011: 16.7%, Census 2001: 17.4%.
2. Urbanisation has reduced dependence on joint families for resources.
3. Empty Nest Syndrome: where ~~per~~ old parents feel isolated.
4. Reduced patriarchy: has reduced influence of eldest male on family.

decisions.

Migration trends

1. Children move abroad or to metro cities for jobs leaving parents behind.

2. Lack of connect with grandchildren

3. Impact of Social Isolation

- ↳ High rate of depression in elderly
- ↳ Lack of care leads to growth of silver economy
- ↳ Increase old-age homes, and hospital dependence.
- ↳ Increase dependence on others, instead of family.

Social isolation is a wide problem, that needs to be fixed through mental health initiatives, and cultural solutions to rebuild social ties.

5.

Indian society earlier largely focused on joint families and community engagement.

Urbanisation challenge social cohesion

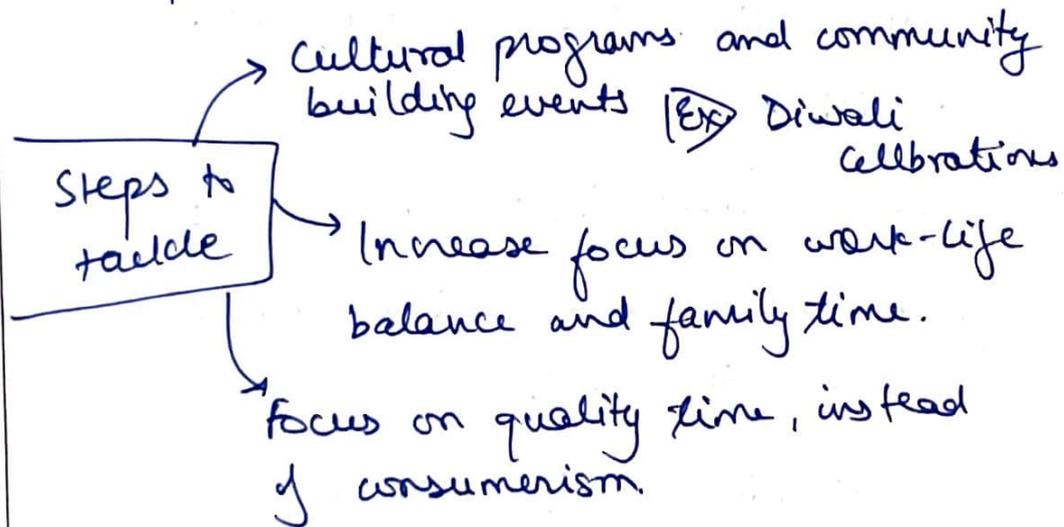

1. Breakdown of joint families: due to migration for jobs.
2. Reduced ties with neighbours etc. in cities.
3. Lack of community programs: unlike village where each festival, marriage is community affair.
4. Both working parents: weakens ties with children
↳ children dependent on day-care or nanny.
5. Lack of support group: due to highly individualistic lifestyle of cities.

6. High focus on privacy and autonomy, reduces sustained relations

7. long commute times: reduces interaction with peers within cities.

8. Growth of 'Weekend' families: where proper interaction takes place.

Weakening social ties has reduced social capital and trust in society, which has made even marriage fragile.

6.

Female ~~for~~ LFPR was 37% in 2022-23, which was much lesser than average 58% [PLFS data]

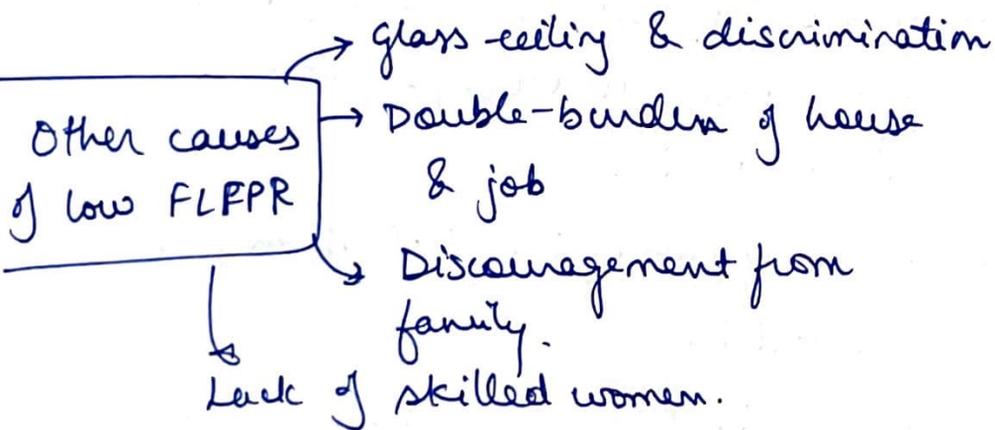

Gendered constraint in women's participation

[Safety]

1. NICRB reported increase in crime against women in latest report.
↳ SI FIR here is reported in India.
2. Eveteasing, sexual harassment and even rape discourages women from working.
3. Poor implementation of POSH in few industries.
4. Patriarchal mindset: where working women are seen as "inferior".

Mobility Issues

1. Lack of support system in new city discourages women.
2. Lack of safe transport like buses reduces mobility for work.
3. Migration post-marriage: reduces capacity to build enterprise at a place.
4. Expectation to follow husband: also makes job market restricted.

Upskilling women, along with schemes like Free Bus Ride and Shakti portal help resolve mobility & safety issues respectively.

Globalisation refers to movement of products, ideas and cultures across national boundaries.

Yes, Globalisation leads to cultural erosion and loss of languages

1. Prevalence of English due to its utility in job market.
↳ 220 languages lost in last 50 years
2. Less teachers in native languages: ~~no~~ forces children to learn other languages
3. Lack of script makes documentation of language difficult
4. Cultural Shame: as local languages may be perceived as 'primitive'.

Cultural erosion

1. Influx of foreign culture: like K-pop, Japanese anime.

2. Use of foreign goods for own culture
Ex. Chinese fairy lights.

3. Deforestation due to industries is leading to alienation - of land & culture
Ex. Niyangiri Hill - Vedanta issue

However, globalisation is also helping in conservation

1. Cultural pride and assertion
Ex. Asur Radio in Jharkhand.

2. Use of AI to preserve language

3. Use of AI to translate books in local language.

4. Increased awareness of diverse languages helps foster diversity.

Globalisation can be used to reintroduce cultural pride, and counter racism, which can help preserve native cultures

Like using Traditional Knowledge Digital Library (TKDL)

8

Neo-spiritual movements in India are characterised by religious gurus, who connect to their followers through social media.

Reflection of Fusion

Tradition → Tradition values like glorious Indian past is emphasised.
Traditional religious symbols like cow, saffron colour.
focus on mobilisation of people based on religious consciousness.

Modernity → modern ideas like equality between castes is seen in followers.
Foster temperance and tolerance towards all.

↳ focus on equality between men and women.

Digital influence → Connection through Social media
e-Sabhas, where people can ask queries online
Even digital payments and donations are allowed.

However, few challenges also exist

- (i) Few times regressive stereotypes are propagated in name of "culture".
- (ii) Gurus found to be involved in sexual harassment of female followers.
- (iii) Political affinity due to huge capacity of voter mobilisation.

Neo-spiritual movements today are required to tackle the widespread isolation & unhappiness in younger generation. However, their advices should be analysed with care.

129

Tribal societies, due to their relative isolation from mainstream have different cultural values.

Difference in status and role of women

| Mainstream Society | Tribal Society |
|--|---|
| 1. Patriarchy and patriliney is common. | 1. Matrilineal tribes like Khasi, Garo exist. |
| 2. Dowry is prevalent | 2. Bride price is more prevalent Ex Jantals, Bhils |
| 3. Women have less economic contribution | 3. Women have high economic contribution due to division of labour. |
| 4. Women have less decision-making capacity. | 4. In few tribes, women participate in decision-making in Sabhas |

5. Marriage is a sacrament, forcing women to stay in abusive marriages

6. Women are not imparted with skills.

5. Marriage can be temporary & divorce is common.

Ex. Break sacred thread in Brahmins.

6. Women learnt food collection, artisanship and even hunting.

However, few similarities also exist

- ① Political authority remains with men in both cases.
- ② Division of labour is based on principle that men would work outside and women inside.

In tribal societies, due to more autonomy to women to choose partner and community living, incidences of crime against women like domestic violence is less

As per World Migration Report 2022, India has largest diaspora in the world, with 31.3 million emigrants.

Diaspora is custodian of Indian cultural traditions

1. Promote Indian culture abroad.
Ex. Diwali celebrations in USA.
2. Integrate foreigners and introduce them to our rich culture.
Ex. Chicken Tikka Masala is very popular in London.
3. Indian festivals and cultural traits are seen in nations like Guyana, Suriname, Fiji
4. Promote use of Hindi and other regional languages.
5. Diaspora purchase Indian goods like colour on Holi, diyas on Diwali.

However, they are also agents of cultural change

1. Melting pot culture of USA discourages own cultural assertion.

2. Bring new ideas and cultural elements in Indian society.
Ex. clothes, food (Italian, Mexican etc.)

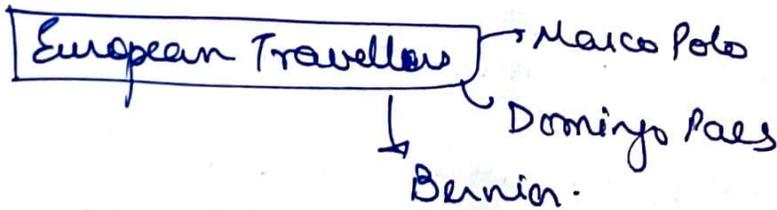

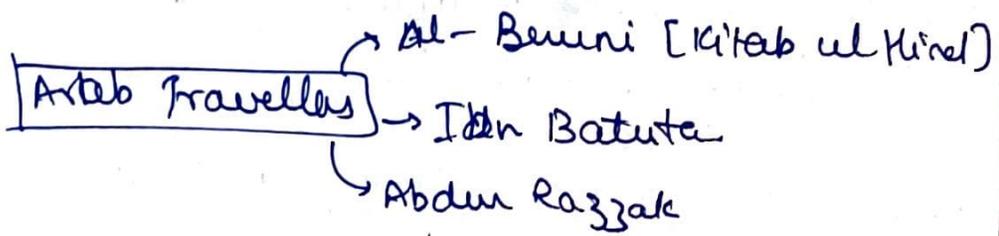

3. Diaspora encourage Indians to adopt cultures of other countries, which may be perceived superior.
Ex. K-pop, Western accents

4. Diaspora due to influence of West bring value consumerism, which is also imported to India.

Overall, diaspora play an important role in cultural showcasing, as held by PM Modi — Diaspora as cultural ambassadors of India.

11.

During the Medieval India, due to improvements in trade and transport means, multiple travellers came to India.

Nature of social life

1. Presence of members of different religions.
2. Rulers involved in religious debates with scholars of other religions.
 - ↳ Ibn Batuta for Mohammed Bin Tughlaq.

3. Caste inequality was prevalent - Bernier.
4. Sati was practiced - Ibn Batuta
5. Relative peace within kingdoms.
6. Non-muslims occupied high positions in courts as well.
7. Ayurveda was widely practiced.

Nature of Economic life

1. The kingdoms were very rich. - Abdur Razzak
2. Ports conducted huge amounts of trade - Marco Polo
3. Roads were unsafe, and ~~the~~ stealing was common - Ibn Batuta.
4. Land was extremely fertile - Al Biruni
5. Regular donations to religious places like temples were made.

6. Huge donations for festivals like Mahanaavmi Dibba were made in Vijaynagar Kingdom.
7. Mughals and Vijaynagar Kingdom ~~was~~ focussed on architecture.
8. Regular taxes were collected in a feudalistic manner.
9. Al-Beruni writes about the very rich and glorious Somnath Temple.
10. However, regular wars also led to huge burden on treasury.

* Travellers are an important part of historical reconstruction, as they provide an outsider's (sometimes biased) view of ~~the~~ daily life.

12.

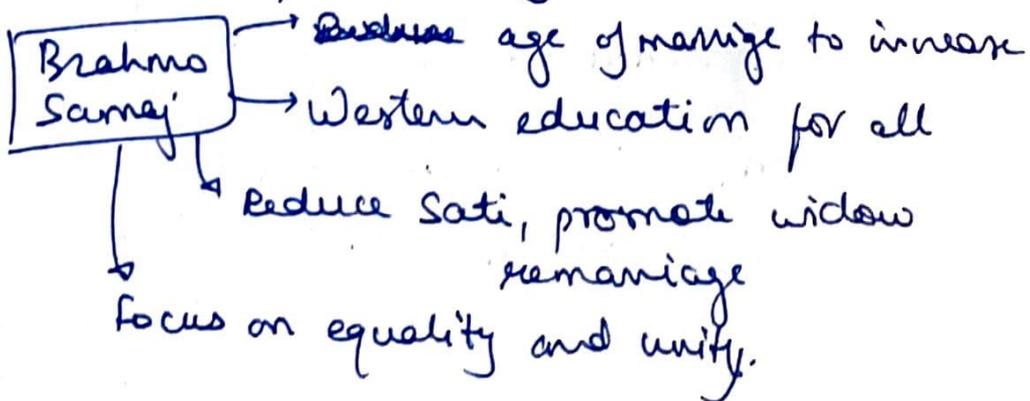

Reformist movement in India in 19th century led to infusion of new, modern and liberal ideas, replacing the old regressive ones.

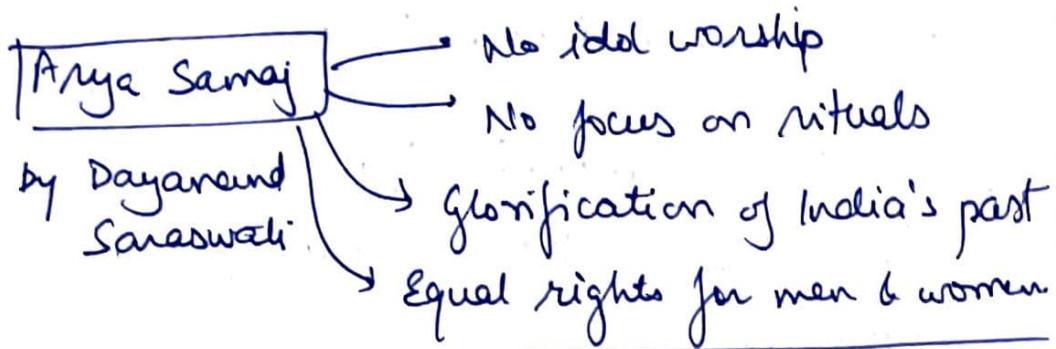

Role of Reformist movements

1. Newer ideas like humanism, caste equality were promoted.
Ex. Both Brahma and Arya Samaj
2. Arya Samaj promoted reduced prevalence of rituals for worship.
3. Reduced idol worship
4. Women empowerment movement
Ex. Sati was abolished due to efforts of Raja Ram Mohan Roy.
5. Reassertion of cultural pride: which was suppressed due-to British policies.

Ex Arya Samaj - DAV schools.

6. Community mobilisation against issues like untouchability, panch system.
7. Promote modern education for all - men and women.
8. Strive to reduce British dominance
9. Invoked humanism and considered ignorance and regressive practices as curse.
10. They didn't advocate for complete break down of social ~~social~~ structure, but replacement of practices.

However, some challenges remained

1. Renew social base of these movements.
2. Resistance from revivalist movements like under Raja Radhakant Deb.
3. Arya Samaj also at times became communal, by launching 'Ghar wapsi'
4. Orthodox sections remained aloof.

Reformist movements were responsible for 'Indian Renaissance' leading to ban on Sati, legalise widow remarriage, Sharda Bill etc 13.

Gandhi ji came to India on 9th Jan 1915, and completely changed the nature and scale of freedom movement of India.

Opening of political space for women

1. Clearly strategy of women participation was given by Gandhiji
2. Women were involved in picketing of liquor shops, foreign goods.
3. Women saw increased participation in protests
4. Gandhiji advocated for equality between son and daughter renewing confidence in women.

5. Women made arrangements for protestors like food, shelter
Ex. During Dandi March.

6. Women like Sarojini Naidu, Sucheta Kripalani acted as role models for women.

7. Inclusion of foreigners including Mirabehn in Gandhian movement.

Reasons why Gandhian strategy worked

- Women were given clear framework to participate.
- Non-violence was readily adopted by women, unlike violence advocated by revolutionaries.
- Gandhiji's trust in women increased self-confidence.
- Focus on social evils, apart from just freedom struggle increased participation from all sectors.

However, certain issues still remained with women participation

1. Most women leaders came from affluent backgrounds: like Hansa Mehta, Rajkumari Amrit Kaur
2. Lack of presidentship within INC of women.
3. Orthodox sections were still reluctant to participate in freedom struggle.
4. Literacy among women remained low

↳ However, leaders like Aruna Asaf Ali, Usha Mehta played major role in Quit India Movement, showing renewed self-confidence in women leaders.

14.

Dowry, caste & endogamy and child marriage are social evils which perpetuate the marginalisation of women and lower caste in society.

Reasons for persistence of social practices

Dowry

1. Deeply entrenched in Indian society.
2. Continued high prevalence of arranged marriages
↳ 88% as per NFHS-5

3. Still low Female Labour Force Participation Rate

↳ 37%. [PLFS, 22-23]

4. Lack of autonomy amongst women to choose their own partners.

5. Glass ceiling restricts women from high-paying jobs.

↳ Women are always undervalued.

Caste Endogamy

1. Prevalence of arranged marriages

2. Presence of institutions like Khap Panchayats

3. Social ridicule and even boycott is faced by families where inter-caste marriages happen.

Child marriage

1. High social acceptance.

↳ NPHS 5 data : 23% marriages in India happen below 18 years.

2. Promotion by traditional forces

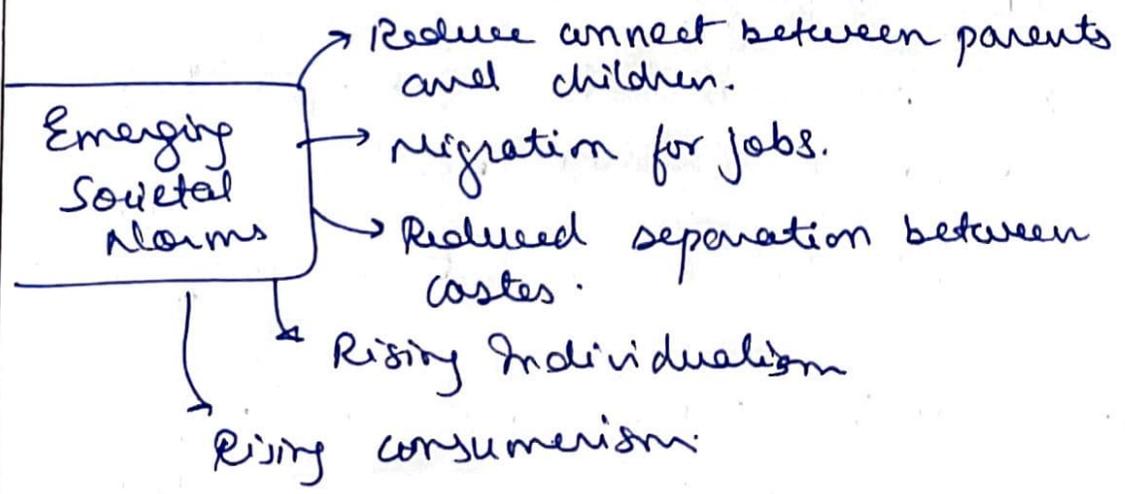

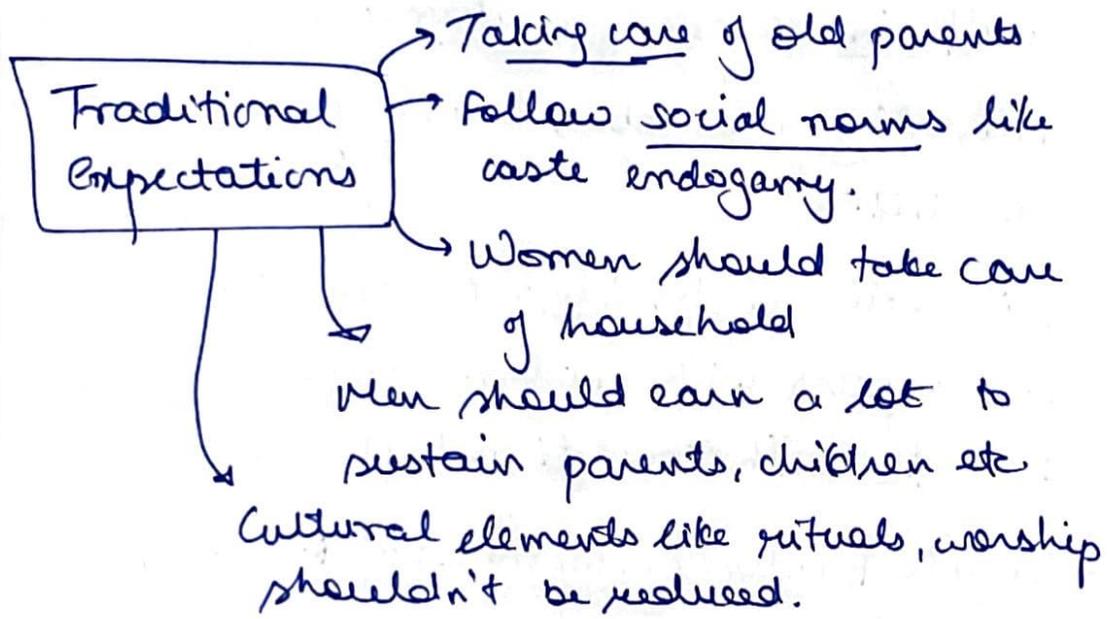

Apart from such social factors, following legal challenges also continue:

1. Lack of strict enforcement of law especially for dowry and child marriage.
2. Leniency against miscreants who disrupt inter-caste marriages
3. High case pendency: weakens trust in legal system.
↳ 5.12 crore cases pending in courts [NJD G data]
4. Political reasons: where strict actions may lead to backlash from society.

Perpetuation of social inequalities and evils needs ~~also~~ to be countered by political will, and participation of police, judiciary, education system and society as a whole.

Modern parenting in India faces a confusion between preparing children for rapidly changing world and connection to cultural roots.

Social implications of tensions

1. Conflict within ~~generata~~ families. where different generations have different expectations
2. Guilt in younger generations: when migrating for jobs, leaving parents behind.
3. Dilemma in children: to connect to either peers with modern values, or parents with traditional values.
4. Double burden on women: to do household chores & professional work.
5. Women expected to sacrifice their career for childrearing.
6. Parents feel empty-nest syndrome
7. Reducing social capital within society

8. Conflict during marriage: where autonomy to choose partners is countered by arranged marriages.

9. Continued prevalence of dowry despite educational & legal advancements.

However some positive changes are also seen

↳ Reduced decision-making power of male patriarch.

↳ Increased women autonomy.

↳ NFHS-5: 92% women have say in household decisions.

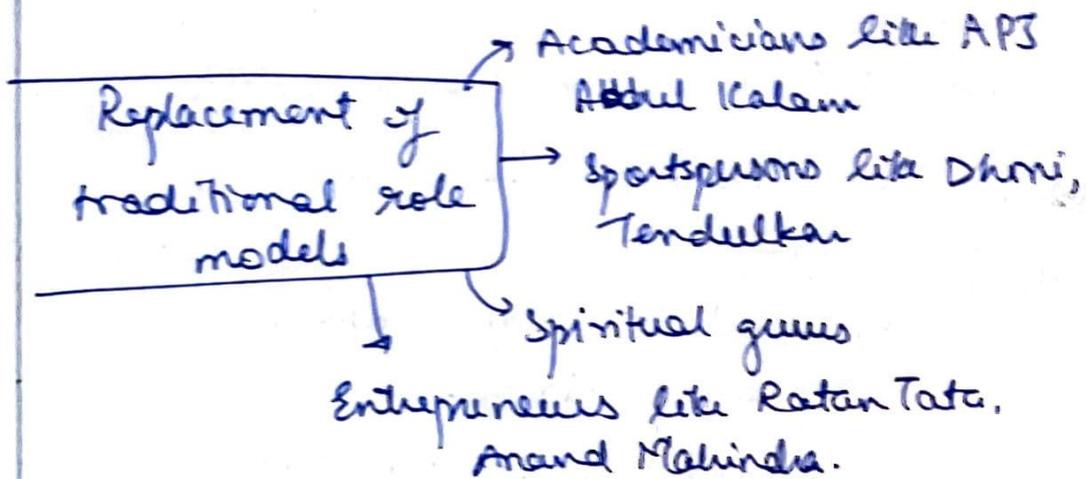

↳ Infusion of newer cultural ideas like caste equality.

↳ Increased solidarity within people of same generation, due to similar problems.

Society is changing rapidly, and culturally sensitive solutions are required.

16.

With the rise of Instagram, Youtube, digital media influences connect with their audience, which is to influence people to copy them.

Impact on youth behaviour

(Negative)

1. Copying behaviour of social media influencers.
2. Normalisation of use of profane and obscene language
3. Over-sexualisation of accepted social norms.

Positive

1. Influencers are seen as independent youths, influencing youth to work for financial independence.
2. Feminist influencers serve as role model for women.
3. ~~Address~~ Influencers encourage youths to seek for other professions than traditional STEM courses.

Impact on Value Systems

Negative

1. Influencers promote individualism, often encouraging youth to take actions irresponsibly.
2. They promote consumerism, creating a sense of 'fear of missing out', due to trends.
3. They promote gambling apps, which leads to belief in "easy money".

Positive

1. Fitness-based influencers: influence people to take up fitness seriously.
↳ they encourage healthy practices.
2. Knowledge is spread by few youtubers about various topics, making people more aware.
3. Financial influencers: help people know about better financial decisions.

Influencers today hold huge popularity among youth. Laws to regulate illegal and unethical messages by influencers are needed to reduce bad impact on youth.

India's 31% population lives in cities (Census 2011), which is expected to reach 40% by 2030.

Developmental issues of urbanisation

1. Very high population density: makes service delivery of basic amenities like water, sanitation difficult.
2. Encroachment of wetlands to accommodate high population.
3. Concretisation of city: due to upcoming offices, industries.

4. Infrastructure construction: like roads, bridges
5. Large requirement for hospitals, education institutions.
6. Encroachment of agricultural land
7. Requirement for parking, markets etc.
8. Large scale loss of greenery — cutting trees for buildings

Impact on Urban Communities

1. Slum formation: due to overcrowding.
Ex. Dharavi is largest slum of Asia.
2. Urban flooding: due to encroached wetlands
3. High cost-of-living: due to mismatch between supply and demand.
4. Very high pressure on infrastructure like roads, bridges, parkings.

5. Inequality in facilities: where high-end societies have better amenities.

6. Pollution - water, air, noise

7. High risk of infectious and zoonotic diseases: due to high population density.

8. High burden on health & education facilities.

9. Breaking of social ties, due to reduced joint-families. (smaller houses)

10. Increased migration, due to presence of jobs.

11. Increased pressure on urban mass public transport like metro.

Urbanisation in India is causing issues in Delhi, Bangalore, which could be fixed with satellite cities.

Caste in India is an endogamous group based on occupation, which was stratified into a hierarchy.

However, today hierarchy is replaced by identity & assertion.

Caste-group mobilisation

1. Political assertion has increased due to democracy.

(i) Power is not related to ritual status, but numbers today.

(ii) Attempt to consolidate caste groups to retain power.

ex. BSP consolidate Dalit voters.

(iii) Vote-bank politics has reduced hierarchy, but increased identity.

2. Upward movements: due to modern education is observed.

(i) Reservation in education institutions has ~~re~~ democratised access to education.

↳ earlier restricted to "upper" castes.

(ii) However, reservation has also contribute to caste-consciousness.

3. Caste-assertion movements

(i) Leaders like BR Ambedkar, who asserted for caste-identity.

(ii) They led movements like dalit assertion, Mahad Satyagrah

(iii) Assertion has reduced hierarchy, but increased identity.

Economic Change

1. Land reforms:

(i) led to distribution of land from upper to lower castes.

(ii) Castes like Jats, Yadavs became dominant.

2. Reduced dependence on traditional Jajmani system.

↳ Reduced dependence on "upper" castes.

3. Access to jobs became democratic, and based on skills rather than caste.

↳ Reduced hierarchy.

Other social factors to reduce hierarchy for identity

↳ Modern education reduced rigid hierarchy.

↳ Social media influencers are also promoting caste identity.

↳ Impact of globalisation and influx of modern ideas.

Due to modern education, emphasis on rituals and significance of religious texts is reducing. This reduces hierarchy, but vote bank politics increases identity assertion.

19.

Regionalism refers to pride in one's region, and drawing a sense of identity from it.

Yes, today cultural expressions are being replaced by demands for autonomy:

1. Ladakh is demanding for 6th schedule autonomy, rather than cultural expression.
2. Greater Nagalim movement: focus on autonomy and not Naga culture.
3. Southern States: are asserting against perception of imposition of Hindi.
↳ Using this to mobilise against Centre's influence using Governor.
4. Khalistan movement focuses on autonomy, and not expression of the rich Punjabi culture.

Implications for National Cohesion

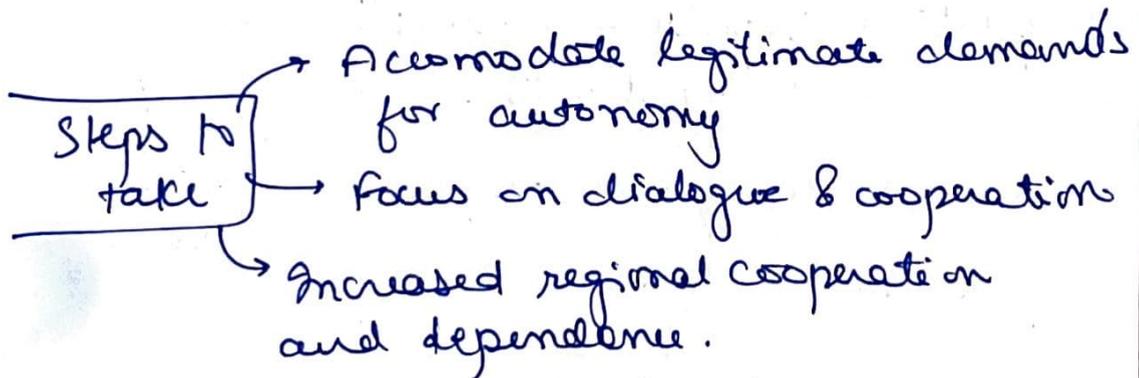

1. Threat to unity of the nation:
where Khalistan is demanding a separate nation.
2. Reduced cohesion between states:
where south and north states are seen at odds for issues like delimitation.
3. Increase 'son-of-the-soil' syndrome:
where attacks based on language
were observed in Mumbai, Bangalore.
4. Reduced faith in central agencies:
where CBI is not given 'general warrant' for investigation in States like West Bengal, Punjab.

5. Increase economic divide: where autonomy in tax devolutions would lead to less share for poorer states.

6. Increased political divide: due to issues like unequal representation in Lok Sabha.

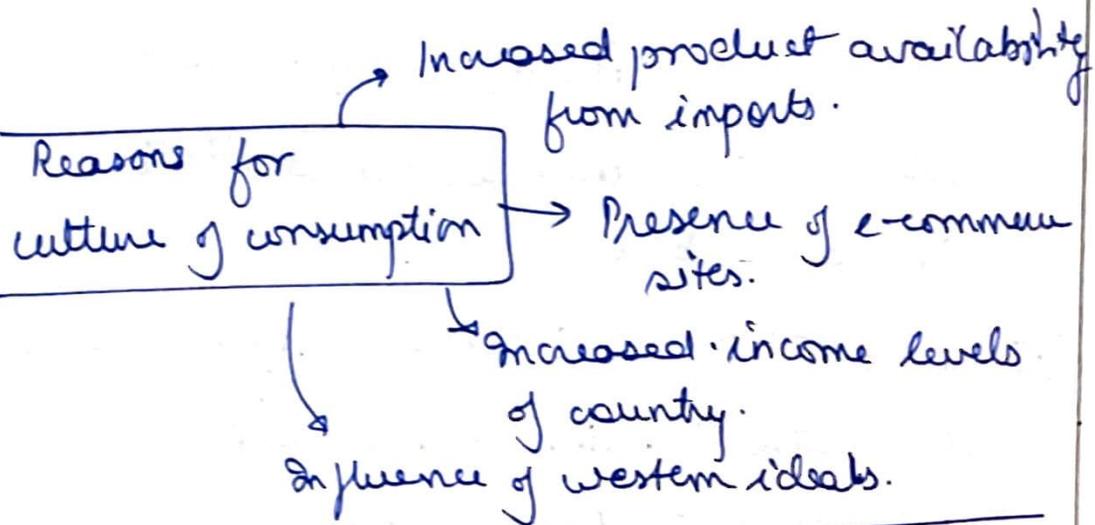

7. Threat to national security: demand for Greater Nagalim makes India vulnerable on Myanmar border.

Often demands for autonomy arise from unequal development. Efforts are needed for balanced regional growth.

20

With advent of LPG reforms of 1991, a consumption culture ~~also~~ also was introduced from the Western societies.

Impact of impulsive consumption on family structure

1. Reduced dependence on parents for purchase of goods.
2. Increased pressure to earn more: to fuel consumption.
3. Reduced importance of personalised gift giving: focus now on more expensive gifts.

4. Poor ties especially between parents and children if not able to afford something.

5. Reduced emphasis on saving: making long term investments difficult

6. Increased "EMI culture" within families.

7. Lack of disposable income in case of emergencies.

Impact on dynamics in urban areas

1. Social status is now being based on ~~the~~ "capacity for consumption"

↳ One with pricier car is "upper status".

2. Consumerism and capitalism is increasing

3. Fear of Missing Out (FOMO) in people when they see others spending money recklessly.

4. Increasing visibility ~~between~~ ^{of} rich-poor divide: as rich are seen to be spending in high-end places.
5. Increased theft, crimes: to fuel unsustainable consumption behaviour.
6. Increased inferiority complex: those with "cheaper" products.
7. Increase in high-end second hand markets: due to tendency of use and throw.
8. Increase in prices of goods due to more demand without need.
9. Tendency to chase the latest trends as on social media.

Due to impulsive consumption, and social media, people are now tying their self-worth with net-worth and not ideals, values, personality etc.
